

Engineered access

Zarafa Height Solutions have extensive experience in the Suspended Access equipment market. Many of our applications traditionally involving going up. However our systems have also been employed for providing access down shafts.

Using market leading equipment, we can provide flexible access systems. In addition to standard platforms, our engineering team work closely with leading manufacturers to design bespoke systems in line with customer requirements.

Suspended access cradles allow the user to perform key inspection, repair and maintenance tasks efficiently and cost effectively.
